HEAVY PROTESTS STALL HARVESTING OF RICE

ALLEGED TRESPASS OF INDIAN RIGHTS IS COURT ISSUE

PRODUCTS OF RICE BEDS AT ONAMIA VALUED AT $10,000 ATTRACTS EASTERN FIRM

THOUSAND INDIGNANT CITIZENS GATHER ON SIDE OF MILLE LACS INDIAN

Advices from the Indian Trading Post on Lower Mille Lacs lake indicate that the white men who sought to harvest wild rice by machinery on Onamia lake have ceased preparatory work, due to the pressure brought to bear by commercial clubs and other organizations of Mora, Princeton, Milaca, Onamia and other towns.

The rice beds cover an area of from two to three sections and have been harvested by the Indians for centuries. Before the Chippewas gathered the wild rice, the Sioux garnered the product.

The Chippewas gather products from the rice beds valued as high as $10,000 annually, forming quite an item in their sustenance.

Another point brought out is that using machinery to harvest by the outside firm raising the controversy will drive every duck out of the region.

Last year a similar outfit tried to harvest wild rice on Big Rice Lake near Kimberly and was quickly stopped by a gun club. The machinery includes a flat scow with turbine propellers and a reel at the bow which whips the rice into the boat, the latter operated with a high powered automobile engine.

SEEK TO SAVE WILD RICE FOR INDIANS

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 15.—Seeking to save the wild rice crop of Onamia lake for the Indians, who for years have harvested it for winter food, residents of the lake district will appear in court here today, in an effort to procure an injunction against a company of white men who are prepared to gather the food.

The injunction proceedings are against Hoffman Brothers of Lindstrom, who Tuesday night appeared on the lake shore with teams and boats, and yesterday brought the wrath of the redmen upon them when they prepared to start the harvest.

Although the residents sought to prevent the activities of the whites through court action Wednesday when they arrived here for an injunction, the name of the alleged offending company was not known. The court then continued the hearing until today.

White residents of the lake district have been harvesting the crop on the lake. Each Indian family consumes 400 pounds of rice each year.

8,000 MINNESOTA

DAIRY CATTLE ON HONOR ROLL

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Eight thousand Minnesota dairy cattle, divided among 661 herds, or 161 more herds than a year ago, are now on the honor roll of the National Dairy Association, according to E. A. Hanson, University Farm.

The National Association each year issued certificates to owners of any herd of five cows or more in a cow testing association which has shown an average production per cow of at least 300 pounds of butter fat for the year.

TO MATT SCHULTZ

Superior, Wis., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Matt Schultz of Marshfield, Wis., was awaiting arraignment on a charge of violating the prohibition act, and felt need of a bracer. It would steady his nerves, he thought.

Just as he tilted a bottle in a washroom of the courthouse a policeman came in and arrested Schultz. A few minutes later Judge C. Z. Luse fined him $200 for taking the drink. The court then sentenced Schultz to three months in the house of correction at Milwaukee for his original offense, on which he had been waiting arraignment.

BATTLE ON EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS

OR ON A SPECIAL SESSION OF SENATE FOUGHT OUT TODAY

WHITE HOUSE DOORSTEP IS THE SCENE OF CONTROVERSY RAGING

By PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Sept. 15.—A battle over the proposal to call an extra session of congress or a special session of the senate was fought on the White House doorstep today.

After Speaker Longworth of the house, had advised President Coolidge against calling of an extra session and Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, had declared himself as non-committal on the issue, Senator Nye, independent republican, North Dakota, charged that the "republican old guard is plotting against an extra session for its own ends."

Nye declared that if no special session is called "important progressive legislation" would be tied up next spring just as it was in the short session last spring.

"It is always to their advantage," Nye said, referring to the regular republican majority, "to jam everything together at the end of a congressional session after they have passed all the bills they want. It is essential that the senate at least gets the election contests out of the way so that we can make some headway on farm relief, Muscle Shoals, Boulder Dam and flood control."

Nye also expressed hope that independent republicans in the senate could work out a coalition with democrats "not with the idea of embarrassing the republican party but to put through progressive legislation."

"Such a combination would be unbeatable even against a veto," he said.

Nye also said that Mr. Coolidge displayed keen interest in the proposal to divert the flood waters of the Mississippi river into Devils Lake, N. D. The lake has been a stagnant pool for 25 years. He declared a proposal would be made to the next congress to divert the waters.

Representative Cole, republican, Iowa, Ramsmeier, republican, Iowa, and Hoch, republican, Kansas, told the president there was no need of an extra session for the house.

Dedicate Dormitory for Men at Macalester College; Cost $200,000

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Deaths resulting from grade crossing accidents are increasing in Minnesota, according to the report of Frank W. Matson, state railroad and warehouse commissioner. Injuries from these mishaps are decreasing, the report said.

In 51 grade crossing accidents this year, 24 deaths have resulted, while 54 persons were injured. For 1926, the figures were 29 killed and 107 injured.

RUTH ELDER AFFIRMS HER INTENTION TO FLY

WILL LEAVE FOR PARIS "NO MATTER WHAT," SHE SAYS

FACING FLIGHT PROTESTS BECAUSE OF RECENT DISASTERS

New York, Sept. 15.—(UP)—So pretty that it doesn't seem right, Ruth Elder has arrived here in her brilliant orange monoplane "American Girl" and reiterated her intention to fly to Paris "no matter what."

Hazel eyes assumed the glint of determination as Miss Elder, with her co-pilot, Capt. George Haldeman nodding confirmation, declared that in two or three days she will set forth across the Atlantic if weather conditions permit.

In the face of protests because of recent disasters, Miss Elder smiled, shook her bobbed brown hair and said:

"Oh, we're going to go all right. There's no doubt about that; it just depends on the weather."

"Why are you going to try it?" questioned one blunt reporter. "I don't know," the girl replied. "Well, yes, when I heard about Lindbergh's flight I knew that some day some girl would follow him. I want to be the first girl to fly over the ocean. That's all."

Miss Elder was at the controls most of the 420 miles from Wheeling, W. Va., to Roosevelt Field. The monoplane arrived last evening after a four-hour flight.

The 23-year-old girl was dressed in plus fours, a boy's shirt, and a four-in-hand tie. A leather wind-breaker and helmet guarded her from the wind. She did not appear even slightly tired from the flight.

The fliers were faced with a stumbling block when J. F. Lannin, owner of Roosevelt Field, the only flying field around New York long enough to permit the take-off of a heavily-loaded plane, announced that the following rules hereafter will prevail for all trans-Atlantic fliers:

Planes must have more than one motor; must be equipped with some device enabling them to alight on and rise from the water; must have a radio and an emergency radio; must carry a navigator and pass rigid inspection by experts.

The Elder plane has only one motor, no radio and no water-landing gear.

When informed of the rules, Captain Haldeman said he believed "there's some way to get around them."

He suggested the possibility of a flight to Old Orchard, Me., where the plane could be refueled and take off on the beach.

Anyway, rules or no rules, Miss Elder is sure, in her own mind, of one thing—she's going to be the first girl to fly to Paris.

GOV. CHRISTIANSON LEAVES HOSPITAL FOR HOTEL SUITE

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Governor Theodore Christianson left St. Mary's hospital here today for a suite of rooms at the Kahler hotel where he will remain until his condition warrants an operation for removal of tonsils.

The state executive was operated upon two weeks ago for removal of a kidney stone.

SORORITY WOMEN GRADE HIGH IN SCHOLARSHIP

Minneapolis, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Sorority women of the University of Minnesota were graded higher while fraternity men made scholastic grade slightly below the average for all students, according to a compilation of standings for the last term made public today.

GLENROCK SCHOOL GIRLS OBJECT TO WEARING UNIFORMS

Glenrock, Wyo., Sept. 15.—(UP)—The school girls of Glenrock were organizing a rebellion today against a school board edict that they wear uniforms to classes.

Starting November 1, the board ruled, all girl pupils must wear uniform dress consisting of a white middie blouse, dark skirt, lisle hose, and shoes with military heels.

Some of the girls approved—but only a few. The others are holding out for individual finery and are protesting violently to the uniform.

The rebels refer unhesitatingly to the school board as "meddlesome old things who would deprive a girl of her greatest pleasure just because they are too old to appreciate pretty things."

Board members, however, show no sign of relenting. The order, they say, was made "in the interest of democracy."

FILE MURDER CHARGE AGAINST MARY ATKINSON

IN CONNECTION WITH POISON DEATH OF MARY JANE BAILEY, 18

LATTER WAS DAUGHTER OF REV. CHARLES BAILEY, ENID, OKLA.

Enid, Okla., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Charges of murder were filed here this afternoon against Miss Mary Atkinson, graduate nurse, in connection with the poison death of Mary Jane Bailey, 18, daughter of the Rev. Charles Bailey, pastor of the fashionable St. Matthews Episcopal parish.

Miss Atkinson has been in jail here since last Thursday when she was arrested on suspicion, was to be arraigned at 3:30 P. M. She will have 24 hours from that time in which to enter her plea of guilty or not guilty.

The charges, filed by County Attorney Dan Mitchell, alleged the minister's daughter succumbed "as a result of poison administered by Miss Atkinson, admiral and communicant of the Rev. Bailey."

EARL CARROLL SEEKING PAROLE

Washington, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Attorney General Sargent said today that there would be no delay in justice department action on the application of Earl Carroll, New York theater man, for parole from his 366 day sentence in Atlanta penitentiary, after October 8, when he is eligible for release.

The federal parole board plans to hold special meetings this fall, and Carroll's case probably will be taken up then, Sargent said.

INFANT MUSSOLINI AWAITED AT HOME OF ITALIAN PREMIER

Forli, Italy, Sept. 15.—(UP)—An infant Mussolini, child of the premier, was awaited today with great expectation in Villa Carrara, the Mussolini home here.

Donna Rachel Mussolini expected the child at any time and had communicated with the premier in Rome. Mussolini was ready to leave the Chigi palace at a moment's notice for his home. He usually arrives in a motor car which he drives himself at great speed.

A cloudburst flooded the streets today, causing some anxiety lest the premier encounter severe conditions in driving here.

The Mussolinis have three children, two boys and a girl.

CAPITULATE TO PLEAS OF THOUSANDS

HAD HOPED TO SET A NEW RECORD IN CIRCUMNAVIGATION

MOST DANGEROUS LEG WAS TO BE TOKIO HOP TO MID-WAY ISLANDS

Tokio, Sept. 15.—(UP)—William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, aviators who flew more than half way around the world, today made plans to return to the United States by steamer.

The fliers announced that if their monoplane, Pride of Detroit, could be embarked upon the liner Korea Maru they would sail for the United States on that vessel.

Capitulation to the pleas of thousands, including many complete strangers, came against the desires of the airmen who hoped to press on around the globe, setting a new record for circumnavigation.

When Brock and Schlee arrived here yesterday they said nothing could shake their determination to continue the flight. Apparently in vain friends argued that it would be suicidal to set out from Japan for the Midway Islands, little more than a dot on the map of the world.

After "sleeping on it," however, the fliers announced they had reconsidered.

Even as the announcement of their changed plans was made the power schooner Lanakai in the vicinity of Sand Island, the Midway group, was proceeding west to keep a keen watch for the monoplane.

Tokio, Sept. 15.—Formal announcement that William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee had abandoned their proposed flight across the Pacific via the Midway Islands and Honolulu was made at noon today by the agent representing the fliers.

The effort to fly around the world, he said, had been abandoned.

VOTE AGAINST JOINT REUNION

G. A. R. AGAINST REUNION OF NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN ARMIES OF CIVIL WAR

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Thirty-seven thousand survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic voted today through the delegates to the national encampment against a joint re-union of the northern and southern armies of the Civil War.

The mortality rate among the veterans was about 12,000 a year, Commander-in-Chief Frank A. Walsh said, and the G. A. R. will have disappeared almost entirely within three years. He reiterated his statement of a few days ago that "while two of us are left we will stick together."

Election of officers was scheduled for this afternoon.

MINNESOTA NATIONAL GUARD RIFLE TEAM WINS FOURTH PLACE

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—The Minnesota National Guard rifle team placed fourth in the contest conducted at Camp Perry, Ohio, for the Herrick trophy, according to information received today by Adj. Gen. R. E. Walsh, from Capt. R. E. Gillespy, Minneapolis, captain of the team.

Captain Gillespy stated that the team scored 1,759 out of a possible 1,800, and was bested only by the navy, marine and California civilian teams.

CHARGED WITH THEFT FROM DIME STORE

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Henry Carberry, 20, of Lyle, Minn., today faced a police judge, charged with the theft of several small articles from a ten-cent store, pleaded for leniency because he is a bible student, and was released under a suspended 90-day work-house sentence. Carberry said the merchandise he stole was worth $1.10.

FEMININITY SEEKS OUT HARRY HILL

TELEPHONE CALLS INNUMERABLE FOR STREATOR BOY IN PRISON

ONLY FATHER, LAWYERS, OFFICIALS AND NEWSPAPERMEN SEE HIM

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Although Harry Hill "didn't amount to much" when he was merely the weak-willed, easy-going son of Mrs. Eliza Hill of Streator, he has become a person of prominence since his arrest in the killing of his mother and jail officials are forced to refuse numerous requests to see him.

Feminine voices have called on the county jail telephone frequently since Hill was returned here from Seattle, asking whether he can receive callers. Only his lawyers, his father, Dr. H. C. Hill, officials and newspapermen have been allowed to talk to him so far.

It appeared possible today, that Hill will be released on exceptionally high bail before the end of the week. It was reported his attorneys would negotiate with State's Attorney Russell O. Hansen on the bail question and that he latter might agree to allow him bail at $100,000 after arraignment.

Hill's father is known to be wealthy and it was believed there would be no difficulty for the defense to schedule property equal to that amount to secure the youth's appearance in court. Granting of bail in murder cases where the state contemplates asking the death penalty is unusual, however.

Persons interested in the case today were discussing possibility that Mrs. Hill made a new will after that which was submitted for probate this week. The will filed placed the divorcee's fortune of $50,000 in trust for "my beloved son."

Witnesses testified at the coroner's inquest, however, that Mrs. Hill had disinherited Harry. This was expected to be advanced by the state at his trial as a motive for the killing.

Formal acceptance of the will by probate court has been held up for a few days, supposedly on the supposition that a later document may be discovered.

FLIES OVER TRAILS HIS GRANDMOTHER PIONEERED YEARS AGO

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—(UP)—When Verne Roberts, Fargo, N. D., flies his plane over St. Paul next week enroute to Spokane, Wash., in the national air derby, he will be passing over trails that his grandmother pioneered more than 50 years ago.

His grandmother is said to be the first white woman to come through this part of the country to settle at Fargo.

STATE DAIRY BARN TO BE BUILT AT HASTINGS, MINN.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Contracts were awarded to the J. B. Nelson Construction Co., of Minneapolis, for the construction of a state dairy barn at Hastings, at a cost of $8,244. The same company was awarded a contract to alter the old power house at Hastings to a vocational training building, at a cost of $8,011.

MORE THAN SCORE DEATHS ARE REPORTED

LITTLE HOPE OF RELIEF ANTICIPATED UNTIL TOMORROW

TEMPERATURES IN THE 90'S RECORDED IN A WIDE AREA

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Withering heat which has caused more than a score of deaths in the middle west entered the fourth day with no hope of relief until tomorrow.

Temperatures in the 90's continued throughout the territory east of the Rocky Mountains and from the Gulf of Mexico far north into Canada. Weather forecasters could assign no reason for the unseasonable hot spell.

It was the hottest September weather on record.

Throughout the central states, drastic measures were taken to combat the heat. In many sections, schools were closed and public bathing places, which usually close after Labor Day, remained open.

All Chicago schools were dismissed. Children in portable school houses were dismissed yesterday noon when the sheet iron buildings were raised to the temperature of baking ovens by the intensive sun.

Although the Lake Michigan beach season is normally over at this time of year, full forces of life guards and attendants were kept working. Police figures showed a rush to the water equal to any period during the summer.

Deaths from sun stroke and heat exhaustion since the hot spell began Monday were placed at 18 in Chicago, which seemed to have been hardest hit. Four persons died in St. Louis from the heat and a few deaths directly or indirectly due to the high temperature were reported elsewhere.

At Manitowoc, Wis., in the center of the summer resort belt, the thermometer registered 94 yesterday. Goshen, Ind., reported a temperature of 102.

Heat prostrations were innumerable everywhere. Casualties in Indianapolis included three traffic policemen who fell exhausted at their posts in the hot sun. The order for Chicago police to change from the summer cotton uniforms to the winter blue was held up for the duration of the hot spell.

Agriculture forecasters saw improvement in the corn crop over conditions of a month ago of between 55 and 60 per cent due to the hot weather and a probable delayed frost. Reports throughout Indiana, Illinois and Iowa said the corn was maturing faster than it had at any time during the summer.

Early gains in corn prices in the board of trade yesterday, made in correcting the sharp drop which occurred when the heat first set in, were soon lost as the session progressed although the price at the close Tuesday was maintained approximately.

Relief from the intense heat will begin tonight but there will be no sharp change in weather conditions such as is usual following intense hot spells, according to the government weather bureau. The weather will continue moderately warm until next week at least with a gradual return to normal September temperatures.

Steamboat Springs, Colo., Sept. 15.—An inch of fresh snow on Rabbit Ear Pass chilled motorists who arrived here today.

SEPT. 17 SET ASIDE AS CONSTITUTION DAY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—September 17 was set aside as Constitution day by Governor Theodore Christianson in a proclamation issued here today.

The day will mark the 140th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution by the United States. In his proclamation, Governor Christianson called on schools of the state to "bring to the attention of our country's future citizens the importance of the day," and asked that "all organizations and individuals dedicate themselves to the responsibilities of protecting and supporting the constitution and laws of the United States."

INFANT MUSSOLINI
AWAITED AT HOME
OF ITALIAN PREMIER

Forli, Italy, Sept. 15.—(UP)—An infant Mussolini, child of the premier, was awaited today with great expectation in Villa Carrara, the Mussolini home here.

Donna Rachel Mussolini expected the child at any time and had communicated with the premier in Rome. Mussolini was ready to leave the Chigi palace at a moment's notice for his home. He usually arrives in a motor car which he drives himself at great speed.

A cloudburst flooded the streets today, causing some anxiety lest the premier encounter severe conditions in driving here.

The Mussolinis have three children, two boys and a girl.

CAPITULATE
THOUSANDS

HAD HOPED TO SET A NEW REC-ORD IN CIRCUMNAVIGA-
TION

MOST DANGEROUS LEG WAS TO BE TOKIO HOP TO MID-
WAY ISLANDS

Tokio, Sept. 15.—(UP)—William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, aviators who flew more than half way around the world, today made plans to return to the United States by steamer.

The fliers announced that if their monoplane, Pride of Detroit, could be embarked upon the liner Korea Maru they would sail for the United States on that vessel.

Capitulation to the pleas of thousands, including many complete strangers, came against the desires of the aviators who hoped to press on around the globe, setting a new record for circumnavigation.

When Brock and Schlee arrived here yesterday they said nothing could shake their determination to continue the flight. Apparently in vain friends argued that it would be suicidal to get out from Japan for the Midway Islands, little more than a dot on the map of the world.

After "sleeping on it," however, the fliers announced they had reconsidered.

Even as the announcement of their changed plans was made the power schooner Lanakal in the vicinity of Sand Island, the Midway group, was proceeding west to keep a keen watch for the monoplane.

Tokio, Sept. 15.—Formal announcement that William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee had abandoned their proposed flight across the Pacific via the Midway Islands and Honolulu was made at noon today by the agent representing the fliers.

The effort to fly around the world, he said, had been abandoned.

VOTE AGAINST JOINT REUNIONG. A. R. AGAINST REUNION OF NORTHERN AND SOUTHERN ARMIES OF CIVIL WAR

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Thirty-seven thousand survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic voted today through the delegates to the national encampment against a joint re-union of the northern and southern armies of the Civil War.

The mortality rate among the veterans was about 12,000 a year, Commander-in-Chief Frank A. Walsh said, and the G. A. R. will have disappeared almost entirely within three years. He reiterated his statement of a few days ago that "while two of us are left we will stick together."

Election of officers was scheduled for this afternoon.

MINNESOTA NATIONAL GUARD RIFLE TEAM
WINS FOURTH PLACE

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—The Minnesota National Guard rifle team placed fourth in the contest conducted at Camp Perry, Ohio, for the Herrick trophy, according to information received today by Adj. Gen. R. E. Walsh, from Capt. R. E. Gillespy, Minneapolis, captain of the team.

Captain Gillespy stated that the team scored 1,759 out of a possible 1,800, and was bested only by the navy, marine and California civilian teams.

CHARGED WITH THEFT FROM DIME STORE

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Henry Carberry, 20, of Lyle, Minn., today faced a police judge, charged with the theft of several small articles from a ten-cent store, pleaded for leniency because he is a bible student, and was released under a suspended 90-day work-house sentence. Carberry said the merchandise he stole was worth $1.10.

FEMININITY
HARRY HILL

TELEPHONE CALLS INNUMER-ABLE FOR STREATOR BOY
IN PRISON

ONLY FATHER, LAWYERS, OFFI-CIALS AND NEWSPAPERMEN
SEE HIM

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Although Harry Hill "didn't amount to much" when he was merely the weak-willed, easy-going son of Mrs. Eliza Hill of Streator, he has become a person of prominence since his arrest in the killing of his mother and jail officials are forced to refuse numerous requests to see him.

Feminine voices have called on the county jail telephone frequently since Hill was returned here from Seattle, asking whether he can receive callers. Only his lawyers, his father, Dr. H. C. Hill, officials and newspapermen have been allowed to talk to him so far.

It appeared possible today, that Hill will be released on exceptionally high bail before the end of the week. It was reported his attorneys would negotiate with State's Attorney Russell O. Hansen on the bail question and that he latter might agree to allow him bail at $100,000 after arraignment.

Hill's father is known to be wealthy and it was believed there would be no difficulty for the defense to schedule property equal to that amount to secure the youth's appearance in court. Granting of bail in murder cases where the state contemplates asking the death penalty is unusual, however.

Persons interested in the case today were discussing possibility that Mrs. Hill made a new will after that which was submitted for probate this week. The will filed placed the divorcee's fortune of $50,000 in trust for "my beloved son."

Witnesses testified at the coroner's inquest, however, that Mrs. Hill had disinherited Harry. This was expected to be advanced by the state at his trial as a motive for the killing.

Formal acceptance of the will by probate court has been held up for a few days, supposedly on the supposition that a later document may be discovered.

FLIES OVER TRAILS
HIS GRANDMOTHER
PIONEERED YEARS AGO

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—(UP)—When Verne Roberts, Fargo, N. D., flies his plane over St. Paul next week enroute to Spokane, Wash., in the national air derby, he will be passing over trails that his grandmother pioneered more than 50 years ago.

His grandmother is said to be the first white woman to come through this part of the country to settle at Fargo.

STATE DAIRY BARN TO BE BUILT AT HASTINGS, MINN.

St. Paul, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Contracts were awarded to the J. B. Nelson Construction Co., of Minneapolis, for the construction of a state dairy barn at Hastings, at a cost of $8,244. The same company was awarded a contract to alter the old power house at Hastings to a vocational training building, at a cost of $8,011.

MORE THAN SCORE DEATHS
ARE REPORTED

LITTLE HOPE OF RELIEF ANTI-CIPATED UNTIL TO-MORROW

TEMPERATURES IN THE 90'S RE-CORDED IN A WIDE AREA

Chicago, Sept. 15.—(UP)—Withering heat which has caused more than a score of deaths in the middle west entered the fourth day with no hope of relief until tomorrow.

Temperatures in the 90's continued throughout the territory east of the Rocky Mountains and from the Gulf of Mexico far north into Canada. Weather forecasters could assign no reason for the unseasonable hot spell.

It was the hottest September weather on record. Throughout the central states, drastic measures were taken to combat the heat. In many sections, schools were closed and public bathing places, which usually close after Labor Day, remained open.

All Chicago schools were dismissed. Children in portable school houses were dismissed yesterday noon when the sheet iron buildings were raised to the temperature of baking ovens by the intensive sun.

Although the Lake Michigan beach season is normally over at this time of year, full forces of life guards and attendants were kept working. Police figures showed a rush to the water equal to any period during the summer.

Deaths from sun stroke and heat exhaustion since the hot spell began Monday were placed at 18 in Chicago, which seemed to have been hardest hit. Four persons died in St. Louis from the heat and a few deaths directly or indirectly due to the high temperature were reported elsewhere.

At Manitowoc, Wis., in the center of the summer resort belt, the thermometer registered 94 yesterday. Goshen, Ind., reported a temperature of 102.

Heat prostrations were innumerable everywhere. Casualties in Indianapolis included three traffic policemen who fell exhausted at their posts in the hot sun. The order for Chicago police to change from the summer cotton uniforms to the winter blue was held up for the duration of the hot spell.

Agriculture forecasters saw improvement in the corn crop over conditions of a month ago of between 55 and 60 per cent due to the hot weather and a probable delayed frost. Reports throughout Indiana, Illinois and Iowa said the corn was maturing faster than it had at any time during the summer.

Early gains in corn prices in the board of trade yesterday, made in correcting the sharp drop which occurred when the heat first set in, were soon lost as the session progressed although the price at the close Tuesday was maintained approximately.

Relief from the intense heat will begin tonight but there will be no sharp change in weather conditions such as is usual following intense hot spells, according to the government weather bureau. The weather will continue moderately warm until next week at least with a gradual return to normal September temperatures.

AS CONSTITUTION DAY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—September 17 was set aside as Constitution day by Governor Theodore Christianson in a proclamation issued here today.

The day will mark the 140th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution by the United States. In his proclamation, Governor Christianson called on schools of the state to "bring to the attention of our country's future citizens the importance of the day," and asked that "all organizations and individuals dedicate themselves to the responsibilities of protecting and supporting the constitution and laws of the United States."

Let's see, how many more shopping days until Christmas?

Home is a place where a wife can tell her husband what she thinks of him.

Nothing seems very funny at 6 o'clock in the morning. Have you ever noticed that?

A long-legged sheep in the Himalayas is able to run forty miles an hour. That's the kind of little lamb to follow Mary nowadays.

Despite the irritating ways of a few automobile drivers I am amazed at the skill and alertness of the vast majority. Considering the opportunities for accident, it is remarkable there are so few.

Another carload of STANDARD COAL just in. How much do you want?

Anybody who ever lived on a farm will wonder how Noah ever got two pigs into the ark.

We heard a lady say the other day that Brainerd is the hardest town she ever saw to get acquainted in. And then we heard another one say it was the easiest. Now which is right?

The oldest bank president is retiring after fifty-four years of service. A man who has been saying "No" that long ought to give his voice a rest.

Get your winter's coal supply into your basement right away and then laugh at the Weather Man. STANDARD, of course.

THE KNOT HOLE

Vol. 2 THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1927 No. 38

Let's see, how many more shopping days until Christmas?

Home is a place where a wife can tell her husband what she thinks of him.

Nothing seems very funny at 6 o'clock in the morning. Have you ever noticed that?

A long-legged sheep in the Himalayas is able to run forty miles an hour. That's the kind of little lamb to follow Mary nowadays.

Despite the irritating ways of a few automobile drivers I am amazed at the skill and alertness of the vast majority. Considering the opportunities for accident, it is remarkable there are so few.

Another car-load of STANDARD COAL just in. How much do you want?

Anybody who ever lived on a farm will wonder how Noah ever got two pigs into the ark.

We heard a lady say the other day that Brainerd is the hardest town she ever saw to get acquainted in. And then we heard another one say it was the easiest. Now which is right?

The oldest bank president is retiring after fifty-four years of service. A man who has been saying "No" that long ought to give his voice a rest.

Get your winter's coal supply into your basement right away and then laugh at the Weather Man. STANDARD, of course.

Mother: "Your face is clean, but how did you get your hands so dirty?"
Small Son: "Washin' my face."

THE CONSTITUTION IS 140 YEARS OLD

ON Saturday of this week Constitution Week comes to an end, says the Minneapolis Tribune editorially. Exactly 140 years ago this coming Saturday Hamilton, Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Madison, Marshall and the various other delegates completed signing their names to the celebrated pact in Philadelphia and departed for their respective homes.

One can only wonder if these men had any idea of the important role this document was destined to play in the history of mankind. Difficulties lay ahead; nearly a year was to go by before the ninth of the 13 states was to ratify it; more than 60 years later the pact was to be challenged in the bloodiest civil war ever fought; but the pact, nevertheless, was to weather every storm.

Certainly these men built well. It is not yet a century and a half since they signed the document which was to create a permanent nation. The 13 contentious and puny little states thus welded together, or federalized, have become the most formidable nation on earth. This nation extends from ocean to ocean; it has the largest literate population of any country on the globe; its wealth is so vast that the human mind can scarcely grasp it. The great powers which aided the signers of the constitution with their might have now become dwarfed beside the power which this constitution brought into being.

Another remarkable thing about the constitution has been its durability. At the time it was signed, discussions about the theories of government were sharp and acrimonious. Much experimentation in government was to come later, the French and the Russian revolutions, for example; and these men had none of the benefits of these experiments to aid and guide them. Civilization was to be converted from a predominantly agricultural to a predominantly industrial affair; and these men had no knowledge that that change was to come. Despite all that, however, they wrought a document which has served the United States as the foundation of its government through 140 years; and which stands higher in the esteem of Americans today than ever. Certainly these men built well, amazingly well; and the wonder of the achievement is not lessened by the fact that three of the men most active in formulating the constitution, Hamilton, Madison and Marshall, were respectively 30, 36 and 32 years old at the time the pact was signed.

BACKWARD children will be pleased to know that their cases are not hopeless. A Barratt Brown, principal of Ruskin College, Oxford University, has declared there are no hopeless duds in the world, provided proper treatment and opportunity are given them. Children who are considered dull and stupid are largely so because their interests have not been called out. It is true that we cannot make one man a poet and another an engineer. We have to consider what each person is really intended for.

WE like to read George Bernard Shaw's observations. His ironic and acid opinions stir thought just the same. He has now added his voice to the long-standing controversy over the Battle of Jutland. He believes nobody won the battle, but that Germany increased its naval prestige. He explains the naval prestige equation by saying England entered the memorable battle with a lot of prestige while Germany had none at the start, but gained some at the end of the battle.

SPACE about us is of incredible immensity. A star of the type identical with our sun exploded in the southern sky half way up to the zenith last month and the "incident" only got a few lines in the newspapers. No American scientists noted the phenomenon. A painstaking German professor "spotted" this "solar plexus" jab in the universe and cabled an American brother professor.

THIS happened in a baby class in school not so far away and the teacher, addressing the little ones, said: "How many of you have had diseases?" And an overwhelming lot of the little ones pressed up to the erudite teacher's side and said: "Teacher, what's diseases?" Had she used the simple expression, "How many of you have been sick?" she would have been understood.

THE country's printing industry, as represented by the United Typothetae of America, will make a determined effort at the coming session of congress to gain a revision of the postal rates on third class matter. The printers want this matter graded at a pound rate so that the costly work of weighing individual pieces may be done away with.

WE thought Massachusetts wheels of justice moved slowly in the Sacco-Vanzetti case which required seven years to close the chapter. Here in Illinois we have the case of Russell T. Scott, convicted murderer of a drugstore clerk, who is making his eighth effort to escape the death penalty which the commonwealth of Illinois is demanding.

THE other day we read of an English woman, Mrs. P. H. Fawcett, who claims she has been in telepathic communication with her missing husband for two years. Lots of wives have this communication with a husband and in some way or another keep constant track of their spouse.

GET your radio set in shape for the Dempsey-Tunney fight on September 22. This is another case where you can "see" this prize fight like the winter hockey game or the late football game better and more economically by "hearing" it.

THE wettest town in the United States has been found. It is declared to be Linndale, near Cleveland, the marshal of the village of 543 people declaring 40 per cent of the population are engaged in bootlegging.

FOOTBALL practice in 80 degree weather is real exercise. When love for the Alma Mater mingles with streams of sweat, it shows there is real love in the hearts of the squad.

WELL, there is one consolation in this warm weather. If you fall out of your duck boat this duck season, you will have warm water for your involuntary bath.

THE end of wild air riding is in sight, says the Editor and Publisher of New York.

SYNOPSIS
Fabien, good and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Monna Lescout, beautiful orphan, who is coveted by hideous Count Ravoire. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris. Circumstances force her to surrender to Ravoire. She rejoins Fabien, and they live so extravagantly that Fabien is forced to capitulate a genius for cards. The King plays Fabien at cards for Monna, accuses him of cheating. Monna is spirited to prison, Fabien goes there to rescue her, and is faced by Ravoire.

"You!" exclaimed Fabien in amazement; then continued, "There must be some mistake, I wish to see the Provost of Police."

"I am he!" the Comte replied with a satisfied smile that turned into a sneer. "What do you want?"
"I heard that you had Monna put in here and came to get her out—I did not know that you were the Provost." Fabien tried to control the hopeless feeling that surged over him.

"No one can get her out, she is to be deported!" The Comte was enjoying his revenge.

"Deported!" exclaimed Fabien in horror. "Why? She has broken no laws."

"No?—Well, perhaps you and I have broken them for her, at least we have helped her break them; and the fact remains that she is to be deported this very morning. Come here!" he beckoned Fabien toward the window. "Do you see your fair mistress among the chain carriers?"

His hands went about the Comte's throat.

Trembling with apprehension and anger, Fabien went to the window and looked down into the courtyard below. Three covered vans were backed up to the prison doors. The horses were strapped to the shafts waiting for the familiar whip lash that would start them on their long journey to the water front.

Eighteen women, some of them horrible creatures, dressed in the ugly prison garb, walked across the courtyard in a long line. They were herded together, one behind the other, with heavy chains that circled their waists and wrists, leaving only a few feet of slack between each one.

Presently Fabien distinguished Monna. Not even the wretchedness of her prison attire could hide her beauty, but her shoulders drooped and she attempted to hide her face in shame. Fabien knew that she did not belong to that order of the frail sisterhood where the Comte had cast her as punishment for spurning his advances.

"In the name of God, stop them!" Fabien cried in anguish. His voice sounded unnatural and his face was livid.
"Why should I resort to so much trouble for you? If you want her—get her!" The Comte indulged in a taunting laugh. He knew better than anyone else how impossible it would be for Fabien to ever enjoy Monna's society again. His revenge had been more complete than he anticipated. It was an unlooked for climax to have the favored lover witness his mistress's degradation.

"By God—I will get her! Fabien had again become a fighting demon.

The Comte laughed at his boast and pointed out how impossible such a capture would be. He also dwelt at length upon the fact that no man or woman could ignore and insult him without suffering the consequences.
Fabien saw the wagons with the chained prisoners passing out of the grounds, and all the blood seemed to leave his heart as Monna disappeared.

Looking after them, through the light of the early morning sun, the Comte remarked something about what a beautiful picture the caravan made. It was more than Fabien could endure. It had the effect of changing him into a madman. He sprang at the Comte's throat and held it in a grip that was deadly. His face was convulsed with hatred and rage.

"You killed Monna's brother like the coward that you are! You have ruined her life! Isn't there any manhood in you? Come on—stand on your feet and fight for your life—if you want it!"

He released the Comte's throat and stood back long enough for him to recover. Then they locked in a fierce struggle and rolled over and over on the floor. The Comte's hand came in contact with a heavy iron bar and he was bringing it down with a smashing blow when Fabien worked himself free just in time to escape having his head crushed. Again Fabien attacked his victim, and this time he had no mercy. His hands went about the Comte's throat and he shook him like a ferret does a rat. When he felt the body go limp in his grasp he straightened up in surprise. It seemed incredible that his slight hands had been strong enough to crush the life out of a man—for there was no doubt about the Comte being dead. Nor was there any reason Fabien should lose valuable time regretting a thing that had been his self-appointed duty.

The Comte had killed Lescout in a cowardly attack, he had insulted Monna beyond repair and sent her to a living death in the Colonies. Yes, he deserved his inglorious death and it was justice that Fabien should have been the one to avenge his friends.
Cautiously approaching the door he assured himself that the struggle had not been heard by the secretary or guard. All trace of the murder must be cleared away so that he could leave without being stopped and reach Monna before the tragedy had been discovered. With great effort he dragged the Comte's body to the door and lifted it to a sitting position in the high backed chair. In one outstretched hand he placed a tall quill pen.

If anyone entered the door it would appear that the Comte was busily engaged with his work. Satisfied with the arrangement Fabien devoted a few moments to making himself presentable then, opening the door—so that the Secretary could see in—he turned back and said, as though speaking to the Comte, "I shall see that you are not disturbed, Monsieur."

Fabien went out and closed the door. He longed to run through the corridor and follow Monna in her miserable caravan; but discretion cautioned him to linger and avert suspicion that might otherwise make him prisoner on the spot with no hope of ever seeing her again.

"Monsieur, is not in the best of moods," said Fabien as he paused at the secretary's desk with a friendly little warning. "You are fortunate that he prefers to be left alone." Then with an assumption of unconcern he sauntered out of the prison and began walking rapidly along the road to Havre. Every few steps he would look back, fearful that the murder had been discovered and a guard sent after him.

As the minutes passed and no one appeared, Fabien's walk quickened into a run and he pushed on in search of his loved one.

Since meeting Monna that Spring morning at the White Horse Inn, Fabien's path had been strewn with many obstacles; but the assurance of her love—in return for his own—made it easy and delightful.

He had gone through sorrow and suffering. He had stolen, or cheated at cards; it amounts to the same thing. He had given up his family, renounced his inheritance; insulted the King and even committed murder. And now, Monna; his love, his very life, the one for whom he had done everything; was being taken away from him forever!

Heart sick, tired, lonely, frightened and even hungry, he stumbled along the dusty road with the hope that he could overtake Monna's caravan and hold her in his arms once more.

CHAPTER XX

"Who will care for my little Jean, my baby—my baby!" moaned the miserable young girl who was chained next to Monna in the cart. "Stop your bellowing," snarled a hard faced woman from her place on the dirty straw that covered the bottom of the wagon. "Why didn't you think of the baby before you got it? Now shut up so I can enjoy the scenery." The woman laughed raucously. She was one of the group who to use her own words: "Don't care a hang about being deported to America—men are just the same, no matter what side of the ocean they live on—besides a change of scene is stimulating."

MEXICAN EAST COAST DAMAGED BY FLOODS, STORMS

Mexico City, Sept. 15.—(UP)—The east coast of Mexico has been heavily damaged by floods and storms and hundreds are homeless. Vera Cruz dispatches said today.

Communication has been cut off with several towns. Seventy houses were reported wrecked at Cosamaloapan and 50 at Acambaro in the interior. Crops were heavily damaged.

No loss of life has been reported.

The storm is a continuation of the one that struck the Manzanillo region of the west coast on Sept. 10, when waves 20 to 30 feet high endangered shipping.

West coast dispatches to the National railways indicated reports of casualties there probably were exaggerated.

Although communication with some towns has been cut off, it was believed there was no loss of life, except possibly among the fishing fleet.

NORTH DAKOTA FACES LARGE WHEAT CROP

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 15.—(UP)—If the estimated production of all spring wheat for North Dakota as indicated by the Sept. 1 condition is realized, farmers will have produced the fourth largest crop in the state's history, the U. This year's crop is nearly as large as that of 1922, when 126,618,000 bushels of wheat were harvested.

Exception 1926, the state's oats crop, as estimated Sept. 1, is the smallest since 1920. Corn too, is a less than average crop, while indications point to the best barley crop since 1915, a record year.

The estimated production of potatoes is 10,716,000 bushels, a 275,000 bushel increase over the August 1 estimate.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 15.—(UP)—Authorities today sought to determine the cause of a blast which late yesterday shook the neighborhood for blocks around and hurled a roof 60 feet into the air, destroying the Frost Cider and Varnish Company plant here.

Two little girls, returning from a barber shop, were alongside the building when the blast occurred. They were hurled several feet, and one of them, Ruth Anschutz, 6 years old, was caught beneath a pile of wreckage. She was dragged to safety, and taken to a hospital. Her sister, Bernice, 8, was hurled across the street by the blast.

THE CONSTITUTION IS 140 YEARS OLD

ON Saturday of this week Constitution Week comes to an end, says the Minneapolis Tribune editorially. Exactly 140 years ago this coming Saturday Hamilton, Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, Madison, Marshall and the various other delegates completed signing their names to the celebrated pact in Philadelphia and departed for their respective homes.

One can only wonder if these men had any idea of the important role this document was destined to play in the history of mankind. Difficulties lay ahead; nearly a year was to go by before the ninth of the 13 states was to ratify it; more than 60 years later the pact was to be challenged in the bloodiest civil war ever fought; but the pact, nevertheless, was to weather every storm.

Certainly these men built well. It is not yet a century and a half since they signed the document which was to create a permanent nation. The 13 contentious and puny little states thus welded together, or federalized, have become the most formidable nation on earth. This nation extends from ocean to ocean; it has the largest literate population of any country on the globe; its wealth is so vast that the human mind can scarcely grasp it. The great powers which aided the signers of the constitution with their might have now become dwarfed beside the power which this constitution brought into being.

Another remarkable thing about the constitution has been its durability. At the time it was signed, discussions about the theories of government were sharp and acrimonious. Much experimentation in government was to come later, the French and the Russian revolutions, for example; and these men had none of the benefits of these experiments to aid and guide them. Civilization was to be converted from a predominantly agricultural to a predominantly industrial affair; and these men had no knowledge that that change was to come. Despite all that, however, they wrought a document which has served the United States as the foundation of its government through 140 years; and which stands higher in the esteem of Americans today than ever. Certainly these men built well, amazingly well; and the wonder of the achievement is not lessened by the fact that three of the men most active in formulating the constitution, Hamilton, Madison and Marshall, were respectively 30, 36 and 32 years old at the time the pact was signed.

BACKWARD children will be pleased to know that their cases are not hopeless. A Barratt Brown, principal of Ruskin College, Oxford University, has declared there are no hopeless duds in the world, provided proper treatment and opportunity are given them. Children who are considered dull and stupid are largely so because their interests have not been called out. It is true that we cannot make one man a poet and another an engineer. We have to consider what each person is really intended for.

We like to read George Bernard Shaw's observations. His ironic and acid opinions stir thought just the same. He has now added his voice to the long-standing controversy over the Battle of Jutland. He believes nobody won the battle, but that Germany increased its naval prestige. He explains the naval prestige equation by saying England entered the memorable battle with a lot of prestige while Germany had none at the start, but gained some at the end of the battle.

SPACE about us is of incredible immensity. A star of the type identical with our sun exploded in the southern sky half way up to the zenith last month and the "incident" only got a few lines in the newspapers. No American scientists noted the phenomenon. A painstaking German professor "spotted" this "solar plexus" jab in the universe and cabled an American brother professor.

THIS happened in a baby class in school not so far away and the teacher, addressing the little ones, said: "How many of you have had diseases?" And an overwhelming lot of the little ones pressed up to the erudite teacher's side and said: "Teacher, what's diseases?" Had she used the simple expression, "How many of you have been sick?" she would have been understood.

THE country's printing industry, as represented by the United Typothetae of America, will make a determined effort at the coming session of congress to gain a revision of the postal rates on third class matter. The printers want this matter graded at a pound rate so that the costly work of weighing individual pieces may be done away with.

WE thought Massachusetts wheels of justice moved slowly in the Sacco-Vanzetti case which required seven years to close the chapter. Here in Illinois we have the case of Russell T. Scott, convicted murderer of a drugstore clerk, who is making his eighth effort to escape the death penalty which the commonwealth of Illinois is demanding.

THE other day we read of an English woman, Mrs. P. H. Fawcett, who claims she has been in telepathic communication with her missing husband for two years. Lots of wives have this communication with a husband and in some way or another keep constant track of their spouse.

GET your radio set in shape for the Dempsey-Tunney fight on September 22. This is another case where you can "see" this prize fight like the winter hockey game or the late football game better and more economically by "hearing" it.

THE wettest town in the United States has been found. It is declared to be Linndale, near Cleveland, the marshal of the village of 543 people declaring 40 per cent of the population are engaged in bootlegging.

FOOTBALL practice in 80 degree weather is real exercise. When love for the Alma Mater mingles with streams of sweat, it shows there is real love in the hearts of the squad.

SYNOPSIS
Fabien, good and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Mayon Lescout, beautiful orphan, who is coveted by hideous Count Ravoire. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris. Circumstances force her to surrender to Ravoire. She rejoins Fabien, and they live as a family. Fabien is forced to capitalize a genius for cards. The King plays Fabien at cards for Mayon, accuses him of cheating. Mayon is spirited to prison, Fabien goes there to rescue her, and is forced to surrender.

"You!" exclaimed Fabien in amazement; then continued, "There must be some mistake, I wish to see the Provost of Police."

"I am he!" the Comte replied with a satisfied smile that turned into a sneer. "What do you want?"

"I heard that you had Manon put in here and came to get her out—I did not know that you were the Provost." Fabien tried to control the hopeless feeling that surged over him.

"No one can get her out, she is to be deported!" The Comte was enjoying his revenge.

"Deported!" exclaimed Fabien in horror. "Why? She has broken no laws."

"No?—Well, perhaps you and I have broken them for her, at least we have helped her break them; and the fact remains that she is to be deported this very morning. Come here!" he beckoned Fabien toward the window. "Do you see your fair mistress among the chain carriers?"

His hands went about the Comte's throat.

Trembling with apprehension and anger, Fabien went to the window and looked down into the courtyard below. Three covered vans were backed up to the prison doors. The horses were strapped to the shafts waiting for the familiar whip lash that would start them on their long journey to the water front.

Eighteen women, some of them horrible creatures, dressed in the ugly prison garb, walked across the courtyard in a long line. They were herded together, one behind the other, with heavy chains that circled their waists and wrists, leaving only a few feet of slack between each one.

Presently Fabien distinguished Mayon. Not even the wretchedness of her prison attire could hide her beauty, but her shoulders drooped and she attempted to hide her face in shame. Fabien knew that she did not belong to that order of the frail sisterhood where the Comte had cast her as punishment for spurning his advances.

"In the name of God, stop them!" Fabien cried in anguish. His voice sounded unnatural and his face was livid.

"Why should I resort to so much trouble for you? If you want her—get her!" The Comte indulged in a taunting laugh. He knew better than anyone else how impossible it would be for Fabien to ever enjoy Mayon's society again. His revenge had been more complete than he anticipated. It was an unlooked for climax to have the favored lover witness his mistress's degradation.

"By God—I will get her! Fabien had again become a fighting demon.

The Comte laughed at his boast and pointed out how impossible such a capture would be. He also dwelt at length upon the fact that no man or woman could ignore and insult him without suffering the consequences.

Fabien saw the wagons with the chained prisoners passing out of the grounds, and all the blood seemed to leave his heart as Manon disappeared.

Looking after them, through the light of the early morning sun, the Comte remarked something about what a beautiful picture the caravan made. It was more than Fabien could endure. It had the effect of changing him into a madman. He sprang at the Comte's throat and held it in a grip that was deadly. His face was convulsed with hatred and rage.

"You killed Manon's brother like the coward that you are! You have ruined her life! Isn't there any manhood in you? Come on—stand on your feet and fight for your life—if you want it!"

He released the Comte's throat and stood back long enough for him to recover. Then they locked in a fierce struggle and rolled over and over on the floor. The Comte's hand came in contact with a heavy iron bar and he was bringing it down with a smashing blow when Fabien worked himself free just in time to escape having his head crushed. Again Fabien attacked his victim, and this time he had no mercy. His hands went about the Comte's throat and he shook him like a ferret does a rat. When he felt the body go limp in his grasp he straightened up in surprise. It seemed incredible that his slight hands had been strong enough to crush the life out of a man—for there was no doubt about the Comte being dead. Nor was there any reason Fabien should have regretted the time he had spent in the thing that had been his self appointed duty.

The Comte had killed Lescout in a cowardly attack, he had insulted Mayon beyond repair and sent her to a living death in the Colonies. Yes, he deserved his inglorious death and it was justice that Fabien should have been the one to avenge his friends.

Cautiously approaching the door he assured himself that the struggle had not been heard by the secretary or guard. All trace of the murder must be cleared away so that he could leave without being stopped and reach Manon before the tragedy had been discovered. With great effort he dragged the Comte's body to the desk and lifted it to a sitting position in the high backed chair. In one outstretched hand he placed a tall quill pen.

If anyone entered the door it would appear that the Comte was busily engaged with his work. Satisfied with the arrangement Fabien devoted a few moments to making himself presentable, then, opening the door—so that the Secretary could see in—he turned back and said, as though speaking to the Comte, "I shall see that you are not disturbed, Monsieur."

Fabien went out and closed the door. He longed to run through the corridor and follow Manon in her miserable caravan; but discretion cautioned him to linger and avert suspicion that might otherwise make him prisoner on the spot with no hope of ever seeing her again.

"Monsieur, is not in the best of moods," said Fabien as he paused at the secretary's desk with a friendly little warning. "You are fortunate that he prefers to be left alone." Then with an assumption of unconcern he sauntered out of the prison and began walking rapidly along the road to Havre. Every few steps he would look back, fearful that the murder had been discovered and a guard sent after him.

As the minutes passed and no one appeared, Fabien's walk quickened into a run and he pushed on in search of his loved one.

Since meeting Manon that Spring morning at the White Horse Inn, Fabien's path had been strewn with many obstacles; but the assurance of her love—in return for his own—made it easy and delightful.

NORTHEAST FAILS TO HOLD TWO RUN LEAD; SCORE 5-2

SANDGREN IS CREDITED WITH BOTH WINS FOR S. S.; RALLY IN 6TH DOES WORK

NORTHEAST BRINGS HOME TWO IN FIRST BUT FAIL TO SCORE IN FIVE INNINGS

A last three inning rally brought victory to the South Side team last evening over the Northeast, resulting in the score of 5 to 2 and giving them the championship of the three game benefit series with two wins and one loss.

Sandgren, victorious S. S. heavier allowed only four hits and was credited with five strikeouts. Richmond, N. E. moundster, was touched for eight hits and five runs. His support was not up to standard and his mates were unable to connect with the benders dished up by Sandgren. The South Side pitcher won both his starts in the series, the games being played within three days. He set the Northeast team back in the first game by the score of 2 to 0 at which time he allowed only two hits and pitched on the average of four to five balls an inning to retire the side.

Northeast scored two runs in the first inning when Nutting walked, stole second, and scored on Elling's two-base hit. Elling was scored on a double by Jarboe.

The South Side came to life in the fifth when Imgrund got life on a fielder's choice and scored on Bernard's long two-base hit. South Side collected three more runs in the sixth when Anderson singled, Loom singled, and the bases were loaded when Swanson made an error on Carlson's grounder. Sheffo hit to center field, scoring Anderson, and Fitzharris hit a fielder's choice, scoring Loom. Imgrund singled to score Carlson.

The final run came in the seventh on Anderson's single. He was ad-

"NEWSPAPER FELLERS" TO BE FAVORED

CAULIFLOWER IMPRESARIO TEX RICKARD MAKES STARTLING STATEMENT

INTERRUPTS BUSINESS OF RESTAURANT IN PREPARATION FOR FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Sept. 15.—Tex Rickard, cauliflower impresario, made the startling announcement today that Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey had agreed to interrupt the business of resting in preparation for their heavyweight championship fight and do some exhibition boxing for the "newspaper fellers."

"Tunney will work for you newspaper fellers this afternoon and Dempsey will work tomorrow for you. The buses will be here early and if you are not ready the buses will go any way," Rickard said this morning.

He continued, thereafter, to comment on other phases of the forthcoming pugilistic show as if he were unaware of the sensational nature of the revelation.

Rickard, reading over a slip presented to him from his secretary, said that the gate would run to three millions or better but when he was asked about the lack of a big business rush in his ticket office where some of the cheaper seats are being sold he said:

"Just you fellers wait. In five or six days we'll have to have cops out keeping the people away from those windows."

Rickard was visited by a delegation of newspapermen last night, including a number of veterans from

Goldfield, Nev., Shelby, Mont., and other distant points and they told him that his two fighters were doing so little that there was nothing to write about.

"Listen," Rickard said, "that Dempsey can't do much more work. He can't stand heat like this. I'm almost suffocating in this hotel room and I don't have to do any training. Dempsey had that Sharkey fight under his belt and he doesn't need any more work."

Rickard added that he didn't know so much about Tunney but that the champion had gone through the formality of taking out a fighter's license for himself from the Illinois boxing commission and that Lou Fink, Jimmy Bronson, Bill McCabe and Bill Gibson had applied for licenses as his corner men.

Dempsey went to the race track yesterday and he has not applied for his license but it is quite certain that he will be allowed to fight and that in his corner will be Prof. Leo Flynn, Jerry, the Greek, Bill Duffy, a prominent night club operator in New York and—perhaps, one of the few surviving O'Donnell boys of Chicago.

One of the very veteran experts who were dashing around this morning was Jimmy DeForest. Old Jimmy trained Dempsey for his greatest fight against Jess Willard back in those ancient days of 1919 at Toledo when Dempsey won the championship.

DeForest said that Dempsey looked better to him than he had seen him in three years.

"His eyes are clearer," DeForest said, "his punches are snappier and his foot work is as perfect as any man of his age could have."

We asked DeForest which fighter he was picking and he said he was "writing for another paper."

DeForest also said he had observed that Dempsey was working much more seriously than Tunney.

"Dempsey," DeForest said, "has been working full three minute rounds every time he went out to box and I had the watch on Tunney and he never worked more than two minutes to the round. Maybe he knows what he is doing but we old timers don't."

In explaining about the peculiar conduct of the two fighters in their training camps, Rickard said:

"That Jeffries (referring to the famous Jim) was killed by the newspaper fellers. They made him go out for miles on the road and when he got back to his place he was so stiff, he could hardly walk. Then we fixed up a thing. We would run for about a mile until the experts were all winded and then we would go over to an automobile we had parked in the woods and we'd go fishing. I never caught any fish and neither did Jeff."

Dempsey is still a prohibitive sentimental favorite around Chicago. Rickard is of the opinion that he has more of a hold on the public than old John L. Sullivan ever had. But the betting is seven to five that Tunney wins.

The Dempsey cap is said to have $100,000 ready to put up at that price and of that amount Prof. Leo Flynn and his middleweight fighter and chum, Dave Shade, were said to have $30,000 but the prof. and his chum told us confidentially:

"Where could we get all that dough? We haven't collected yet."

NORTHEAST FAILS TO HOLD TWO RUN LEAD; SCORE 5-2

SANDGREN IS CREDITED WITH BOTH WINS FOR S. S.; RALLY IN 6TH DOES WORK

NORTHEAST BRINGS HOME TWO IN FIRST BUT FAIL TO SCORE IN FIVE INNINGS

A last three inning rally brought victory to the South Side team last evening over the Northeast, resulting in the score of 5 to 2 and giving them the championship of the three game benefit series with two wins and one loss.

Sandgren, victorious S. S. heaver, allowed only four hits and was credited with five strikeouts. Richmond, N. E. moundster, was touched for eight hits and five runs. His support was not up to standard and his mates were unable to connect with the benders dished up by Sandgren. The South Side pitcher won both his starts in the series, the games being played within three days. He set the Northeast team back in the first game by the score of 2 to 0 at which time he allowed only two hits and pitched on the average of four to five balls an inning to retire the side.

Northeast scored two runs in the first inning when Nutting walked, stole second, and scored on Elling's two-base hit. Elling was scored on a double by Jarboe.

The South Side came to life in the fifth when Imgrund got life on a fielder's choice and scored on Bernard's long two-base hit.

South Side collected three more runs in the sixth when Anderson singled, Loom singled, and the bases were loaded when Swanson made an error on Carlson's grounder. Sheffield hit to center field, scoring Anderson, and Fitzharris hit a fielder's choice, scoring Loom. Imgrund singled to score Carlson.

The final run came in the seventh on Anderson's single. He was ad-

"NEWSPAPER FELLERS" TO BE FAVORED

CAULIFLOWER IMPRESARIO TEX RICKARD MAKES START-LING STATEMENT

INTERRUPTS BUSINESS OF RESTAURANT IN PREPARATION FOR FIGHT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Sept. 15.—Tex Rickard, cauliflower impresario, made the startling announcement today that Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey had agreed to interrupt the business of resting in preparation for their heavyweight championship fight and do some exhibition boxing for the "newspaper fellers."

"Tunney will work for you newspaper fellers this afternoon and Dempsey will work tomorrow for you. The busses will be here early and if you are not ready the busses will go any way," Rickard said this morning.

He continued, thereafter, to comment on other phases of the forthcoming pugilistic show as if he were unaware of the sensational nature of the revelation.

Rickard, reading over a slip presented to him from his secretary, said that the gate would run to three millions or better but when he was asked about the lack of a big business rush in his ticket office where some of the cheaper seats are being sold he said:

"Just you fellows wait. In five or six days we'll have to have cops out keeping the people away from those windows."

Rickard was visited by a delegation of newspapermen last night, including a number of veterans from

Goldfield, Nev., Shelby, Mont., and other distant points and they told him that his two fighters were doing so little that there was nothing to write about.

"Listen," Rickard said, "that Dempsey can't do much more work. He can't stand heat like this. I'm almost suffocating in this hotel room and I don't have to do any training. Dempsey had that Sharkey fight under his belt and he doesn't need any more work."

Rickard added that he didn't know so much about Tunney but that the champion had gone through the formality of taking out a fighter's license for himself from the Illinois boxing commission and that Lou Fink, Jimmy Bronson, Bill McCabe and Bill Gibson had applied for licenses as his corner men.

Dempsey went to the race track yesterday and he has not applied for his license but it is quite certain that he will be allowed to fight and that in his corner will be Prof. Leo Flynn, Jerry, the Greek, Bill Duffy, a prominent night club operator in New York and—perhaps, one of the few surviving O'Donnell boys of Chicago.

One of the very veteran experts who were dashing around this morning was Jimmy DeForest. Old Jimmy trained Dempsey for his greatest fight against Jess Willard back in those ancient days of 1919 at Toledo when Dempsey won the championship.

DeForest said that Dempsey looked better to him than he had seen him in three years.

"His eyes are clearer," DeForest said, "his punches are snappier and his foot work is as perfect as any man of his age could have."

We asked DeForest which fighter he was picking and he said he was "writing for another paper."

DeForest also said he had observed that Dempsey was working much more seriously than Tunney.

"Dempsey," DeForest said, "has been working full three minute rounds every time he went out to box and I had the watch on Tunney and he never worked more than two minutes to the round. Maybe he knows what he is doing but we old timers don't."

In explaining about the peculiar conduct of the two fighters in their training camps, Rickard said:

"That Jeffries (referring to the famous Jim) was killed by the newspaper fellers. They made him go out for miles on the road and when he got back to his place he was so stiff, he could hardly walk. Then we fixed up a thing. We would run for about a mile until the experts were all winded and then we would go over to an automobile we had parked in the woods and we'd go fishing. GAME LEAD

ARE SCHEDULED FOR ANOTHER
GAME WITH 7TH-PLACE
BOSTON CLUB

RIVALS, NEW YORK AND ST.
LOUIS, MEET IN THIRD
DOUBLE-HEADER

(By United Press)

Possessed of a lead of four full games, the Pittsburgh Pirates were scheduled for another game with the seventh-place Boston club today, while their rivals for the National League pennant, New York and St. Louis, were to meet in the third double-header of the present series. They split even in the other two.

The standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Pittsburgh	83	53	.610
New York	79	57	.581
St. Louis	79	57	.581

The Pirates increased their lead yesterday by taking a double-header from the Braves, 6-2 and 3-0. Mills won the second game shut-out by allowing only six hits. Kremer, who pitched the first game for Pittsburgh, allowed as many hits but they were better timed on the part of the Braves.

Scores in the Giant-Cards games were 6-3 and 9-3, St. Louis winning the first and New York the second contest. Both games showed the intense fight for second place. The first game had been won by the Giants until the ninth when the Cards tied the score. Henry, who replaced Barnes for New York, weakened in the tenth and allowed three runs. The second game was tight except for the fifth inning when New York attacked Littlejohn and scored seven runs before the side was out.

The Dodgers pushed the once-promising Cubs still lower in the standing, due largely to loose playing by Chicago. Nine runs were scored off Percy Jones on five hits in three innings he worked.

Cincinnati won another victory over the Phils by rallying for four runs in the ninth, giving them a margin of 7 to 6.

Another victory to aid in their effort to break the games won record in the American League was recorded by the Yanks when they beat Cleveland, 4 to 1.

An eleven inning game between the White Sox and Athletics went to the latter, 5 to 4.

Although outlived by the Tigers, the Senators concentrated their effort in the third inning to score three runs and win, 3 to 2.

The Browns were slow in getting started in their game with the Red Sox and lost by a 9 to 6 score.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Kansas City dropped to four games behind first place when Minneapolis took their fifth straight game from the Blues, 13 to 5. The Blues return to Kansas City today, where they hope to recover lost ground. Tucker, Miller center fielder, contributed to the victory with two home runs and a single. Loftus, Smith and Emmer also had three hits.

St. Paul, Minn.—Milwaukee tightened its hold on first place in the Association, defeating St. Paul 10 to 4 at the same time Minneapolis was beating Kansas City. Strohm, Riconda and McMenemy led the Brewer attack.

Columbus, O.—Christensen, Columbus center fielder, singled in the ninth, scoring Sullivan, thus giving Columbus a 3 to 2 victory over Toledo. It was Christensen's fourth hit of the game.

Great sorrow entered the home of the Reshater family through the bereavement of their dear son and brother George, aged 18. He suddenly took sick with the very serious sickness of inflammation of the brain which is medically known as spinal meningitis. He passed away on the fourth day after the sickness set in, at the St. Joseph's hospital at Brainerd. The remains were shipped to Minneapolis for interment. The minister of the Greek Catholic church, to which the family belonged, officiated. We herewith express our heartfelt sympathy in the name of the community.

Five youths of the Immanuel church are this year attending high school at Brainerd: Edith Johnson's last year; Leonard Boeder's 3rd; Yorda Magnuson and Ingeborg Johnson's 2nd; and Myrtle Wohl's 1st. Religious and secular knowledge makes a well balanced education.

The Rev. Heidtke family had company from their home town, Jackson, Wis., last week. An uncle and cousin and two aunts. They were saying that it was very dry in Wisconsin at the time they left.

Miss Mabel Linn who taught for two consecutive years at the Magnuson school, 1923 and 24, was again engaged for the same school this year. A good record and honor for anyone to again be welcomed in a community where you have been and known before.

The Louis Wohl family entertained company from Cloquet, Minn., last week. The company arrived Thursday and left for home Sunday morning. The hosts accompanying them to Aitkin making a joint visit with friends there.

Some more company was entertained by the same family this week Tuesday: Rev. Millus and family from Zimmermann, Minn., and his company also from Wisconsin. They left from here for Motley to visit with relatives there.

The services at Dykeman Sunday afternoon were well attended. A number of children were baptized at this service. Next service is a week from Sunday.

WINDSOR PLANE DELAYED ON ITS WAY HOME

Old Orchard, Me., Sept. 15.—(UP)—The last leg of the return flight of the monoplane Royal Windsor was postponed today until tomorrow morning by Pilots Phil Wood and C. A. (Duke) Schiller because of adverse weather and motor trouble.

The plane arrived here last night from Harbor Grace, N. F., where the pilots had abandoned plans for a trans-ocean hop on recommendation of backers of the flight. The fliers said today the planned to take off at low tide tomorrow for Windsor, Ont.

PLATTE LAKE AND BULL DOG LAKE

Great sorrow entered the home of the Reshater family through the bereavement of their dear son and brother George, aged 18. He suddenly took sick with the very serious sickness of inflammation of the brain which is medically known as spinal meningitis. He passed away on the fourth day after the sickness set in, at the St. Joseph's hospital at Brainerd. The remains were shipped to Minneapolis for interment. The minister of the Greek Catholic church, to which the family belonged, officiated. We herewith express our heartfelt sympathy in the name of the community.

Five youths of the Immanuel church are this year attending high school at Brainerd: Edith Johnson's last year; Leonard Boeder's 3rd; Yorda Magnuson and Ingeborg Johnson's 2nd; and Myrtle Wohl's 1st. Religious and secular knowledge makes a well balanced education.

The Rev. Heidtke family had company from their home town, Jackson, Wis., last week. An uncle and cousin and two aunts. They were saying that it was very dry in Wisconsin at the time they left. Miss Mabel Linn who taught for two consecutive years at the Magnuson school, 1923 and 24, was again engaged for the same school this year. A good record and honor for anyone to again be welcomed in a community where you have been and known before.

The Louis Wohl family entertained company from Cloquet, Minn., last week. The company arrived Thursday and left for home Sunday morning, the hosts accompanying them to Aitkin making a joint visit with friends there.

Some more company was entertained by the same family this week Tuesday; Rev. Milius and family from Zimmermann, Minn., and his company also from Wisconsin. They left from here for Motley to visit with relatives there.

The services at Dykeman Sunday afternoon were well attended. A number of children were baptized at this service. Next service is a week from Sunday.

RELICS OF WARFARE COMPRISE EXHIBIT

Over 150 Entries, Muzzle Loaders,
Cap Guns, Pepper Boxes, in Gun Competition

HISTORY RECALLED

Colts Revolver Carried With Reno
in Historic Little Big Horn
Battle on Display

More than 150 excellent entries form a most interesting exhibit of firearm relics, weapons of old Indian warfare, guns from the Cuban-Spanish war, powder horns, axes, swords, copper and flint arrow heads, now on display in the show windows of the Judd Wright and Son Hardware store, east Laurel street.

The contest started a few weeks ago as an old gun competition but it attracted such widespread interest that expert advice will be sought to select the best entries since there are so many fine ones.

Interesting data on the guns, where they were found or how they came into possession of the present owner was gathered at the time of the entry. Information regarding the relics follow:

E. J. Moon, of Garrison submits an old muzzle loading shot gun which was originally a flint lock rifle but which was changed over in the early sixties to a percussion cap shot gun. Mr. Moon came into possession of the gun from his grandfather who was a gunsmith.

A 20 gauge muzzle loading shot gun trimmed in gold and at one time a very valuable gun which carried engraving on the side plates and hand work on the stock is entered by Owen Peaslee, of Brainerd. The gun was in the possession of the family for more than 80 years.

J. W. Cragen, of Lone Pine Camp at South Long Lake exhibits a Kentucky squirrel rifle. These old muzzle loading rifles are still in use among the backwoods people of eastern Tennessee.

A Mauser musket used by the Cubans during their fight for freedom in the Cuban-Spanish war is submitted by Seymour Clark.

Another interesting relic is a 44 caliber Christian Sharps rifle, one of the first of the breech loaders. This rifle was used by a buffalo hunter in a fight between the Mandan and Sioux tribes of Indians. The hunter was killed and his gun was used to mark his grave. M. R. Smith of Brainerd found the gun and looked up its history.

Mr. Cragen further submits a shot bag, turkey call, bullet mould, and powder.

While bathing in Round Lake just opposite old Hole-In-The-Day portage, Elmer Huseman, Brainerd, stepped on an old flint lock rifle and was able to salvage the locks. They are submitted in the competition.

W. E. Wunderlich enters one of the early Sharps still in shooting order.

Charles Fox, N. E. Brainerd exhibits a Golcher rifle weighing 12 pounds. He is considered one of the best authorities on old guns in this district.

Mrs. Amy Bertram submits a Golcher rifle which was inherited from her grandfather.

In cleaning out land near a creek on the north end of Mille Lacs lake on what is known as the Peter Larson place, Earl Borden plowed up many interesting relics which he entered. They included many copper arrowheads which are unknown to western Indians, together with many flint arrowheads, a tomahawk, an early French trader's axe, several pipes, and a hilt of an old sword, the type used by the early Spanish explorers. The hilt was well nicked indicating many battles. The Spaniard undoubtedly was killed in a hand to hand fight near Mille Lacs lake.

J. Fry submits a model of the first double barreled breech loading shot gun and Dan Peterson, wolf hunter from Gull Lake exhibits a combination rifle and shot gun.

A powder horn carried by Edward Howard during the Revolutionary war known to be 160 years old is entered by Ed. Moon. He also enters a horse pistol used prior to the Civil war. It was found under an old house at Garrison and is still in firing order.

Four early revolvers entered by R. J. Tinkelpaugh comprises one of the most interesting collections of old guns in the exhibit. Mr. Tinkelpaugh is very much interested in collection of old guns and is considered an authority on them. One of his guns is an early Colts cap and ball gun such as used by the bad men of the plains in the decade immediately following the Civil war. The most interesting gun in the Tinkelpaugh collection is an old brass six shot pepper box.

William Harmon enters a 44 cap and ball Colts gun, one he has been using up to the past year. Arthur Brown enters a U. S. Springfield while C. C. Carlton has several guns dating about the time of the Civil war.

J. L. Porwoll is the owner of an old fashioned double barreled muzzle loader which dates back to the early seventies. Two Zulu shot guns are entered by Joseph Smith and Joe Smith. Ida Wunderlich has a two shot derring in first class order and Charles Rice enters a cap and ball gun.

Edgar Kaatz's entry is a French pin gun, one that was issued to the German army and brought to this country by his father. A. J. Sammons also enters a German pin gun and A. J. Robinson is the owner of a six shot muzzle loading pepper box.

Charles Taylor, of Outing submits a great assortment of Indian relics, including a tomahawk, several stone axes, spears, arrowheads and a very interesting flint lock rifle which he found on a Sioux and Chippewa battlefield near Outing.

Howard L. Cragg enters a Colts revolver, which was carried with Reno during the battle of Little Big Horn when Custer and his command were wiped out.

Mrs. Claude James enters a flint lock musket which an Indian gave to her father in the early days of Minnesota, also a stone axe, corn meal stone, and a French trading axe.

Judging will take place the early part of next week.

THE KANSAS AND IOWA Champions

Mrs. Thomas Owen
R. R. 7, Topeka, Kans.

Mrs. William Glenn
Knoxville, Iowa

State champion jelly makers and preservers were chosen for eight states in the contest recently conducted by The Great Western Sugar Company. The Kansas champion is Mrs. Thomas Owen, R. R. 7, Topeka, representing the Seabrook Congregational Ladies Union. The Iowa champion is Mrs. William Glenn of Knoxville, representing the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church. Although not a contest requirement, both used Great Western Sugar.

"SEVERAL years ago," says Mrs. Thomas Owen, "I learned that an old-time prejudice of mine against beet sugar for jelly making was quite unfounded. In my experimenting, good beet sugar proved the same as any other good sugar—gave the same results in jelly making."

"I have used only beet sugar in my home since that time, for jelly making and preserving, as well as for baking, cake making and other purposes."

"I have used Great Western Sugar many times before, and it was used in the entries which were selected for the championship of my state. It has always been very satisfactory. Jellies and preserves made with it keep well and retain their shape. I like its fine grain."

"I also like to patronize home industries. I know there is a great opportunity for building up the sugar industry in our western states. It is our duty to create a market for it."

"I HAVE USED Great Western Sugar in my home and found it very satisfactory for all purposes," observes Mrs. William Glenn, Iowa's champion. "It gives excellent results in jelly making, canning and preserving."

"In the contest held by our aid society, this sugar was used exclusively and gave excellent results, as evidenced by the award of the Iowa state prize for our entry in the final contest."

"I think we should do all we can to advance the beet sugar industry. We shall adopt the slogan, 'Use Great Western Beet Sugar.'"

She Gained Weight With McCoy's Tablets

You remember of course—not so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny, weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at H. P. Dunn's, Johnson's Pharmacy or any drug store in America. —Adv.

She Gained Weight With McCoy's Tablets

You remember of course—not so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—filled out the hollows in face, neck and chest—any skinny, weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at H. P. Dunn's, Johnson's Pharmacy or any drug store in America. —Advt.
